COLUMBIA'S LATIN PROFESSOR.

WHOM WILL THE TRUSTEES SELECT! THE MOST PROMINENT CANDIDATES AND THOSE

WHO ARE RECOMMENDING THEM. At the next regular meeting of the trustees of columbia College, it is expected that the election of a professor to fill the chair of Latin, made vacant by the death of Professor Short, in December, 1886, will take place. This election has been postponed five or six times already, but at the last neeting the trustees it was ordered as the special bust of the trustees it was ordered as the special busi ess of the November meeting. Over a year Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, Joseph W. Harper, Jr., and Rev. Dr. T. W. Chambers, presented to the trustees the names of seventeen candidates. The list has been gradually narrowed down to five or six, who are said to be favored by the different trustees.

The foremost of these seems to be Dr. Harry Thurston Peck, who is at present in charge of the Latin chair at the college. Dr. Peck is decidedly the students' favorite for the position, and when the trustees some time ago submitted the names of the five most prominent candidates to the faculty of the college and asked their choice, when it was found that Professor W. M. Sloane, of Princeton College, would not accept the position, Dr. Peck's name was unanimously selected as their choice. He was graduated from Columbia in 1881, became a fellow and inter in Latin, gave voluntary instruction in and tutor in Latin, gave voluntary instruction in Hebrew and Arabic, and in June, 1886, was made tutor in Latin and instructor in the Semitic lan-guages. He is a member of the Oriental Society, and Philology" and other publications. At present he is engaged in preparing a Ciceronian lexicon, in connection with an edition of the orations of Cicero, published by the Harper Brothers. recently spent some time in Berlin, studying with Professor Vahlen in connection with this work, and connection with an edition of the Tuscan disutations of Cicero, in the classical series edited by Professor Pease, of Bowdoin College.

Professor Fease, of Bowdom College.

Professor E. W. Hopkins, a graduate of Columbia in 1878, is another prominent candidate. He was the second choice of the faculty of the college. Upon his graduation he was made a fellow, and studied Greek, Sanscrit and Zend in Leipsic, from 1878 to 1881, when he became a tutor of Latin and Zend in Columbia. Here, he remained until 1883, when he columbia. Here he remained until 1885, when he became professor of Greek and Sanscrit at Bryn Mawr, where he has since been. His recommend ons are: Translator of the Institutes of Mann, a member of the D-lental Society and the author of sundry papers on Oriental Literature. "Stands well among our graduates and is highly thought of by the authorities of the college" is the committee's the college in 1874, is highly recommended for the of Latin for a number of years, and was then elected to the Latin professorship in Union College, and he pow holds the Latin chair in that institution. June he received the degree of doctor of letters from Hobart College.

Another name to be considered is that of Professor Caskie Harrison, who was educated at Rugby and Cambridge, England, has translated the Odes of Horace and assisted Professors Goodwin, Allen and Greenough in their Greek and Latin grammars. Professor Harrison's references are numerous, among them being the chancellor, trustees and faculty of Brooklyn; the Rev. L. W. Bancroft, Professor W. W. Goodwin, Professor John B. Elliott, Professor Gildersleeve, Bishops Green, Quintard and Elliott, Henry E. Pierrepont, Charles Darnell, Truman I. Backus, Henry C. Bowen, of "The Independent," B. E. Siliman and Dr. Frederick Temple, of Rugby School, England.

Henry C. Bowen, of "The Independent," B. E. Siliman and Dr. Frederick Temple, of Rugby School, England.

The Rev. Dr. Mytton Maury, who was graduated from Columbia College in 1857, has references from Bishop Williams, of Connecticut; President Barnard, Professors Van Ambridge and Drister, Dr. Lewis A. Sayre and the Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby.

Professor Minton Warren, the associate professor of Latin at Johns Hopkins University, was a prominent candidate, but ill-health has compelled him to give up his present position, and it is not likely that he could endure the strain of the added duties which would come upon him if he should be elected. He was suggested by Professor John II. Wright, who stated at the time that he did so without Professor Warren's knowledge, having reason to believe that he had no desire to leave his present position, but wishing to call attention to what he considered to be his unusual merits and ability.

NOBLE.

NOBLE.

BY SIR MORELL MACKENZIE.

12mo. Cloth $1.

This imperiant contribution to the great controversy regarding the proper treatment of the disease which caused the late Emperor Frederick's death, has been anxiously expected by all those who have followed with deep interest the course of events in this colerrated case. Dr. Mackenzie for the first time states the case from his own point of yiew, and it is expected that this work will completely refute the assertions made by the German physicians against Dr. Mackenzie. Among other illustrations it will contain a fac-simile of a letter from the Emperor Frederick. Although this work will be of special value to the physician, it will contain much other matter of great interest to the general public.

LADIES interested in the study of French language, by sending their address and three cents postage stamps to Prof. Berser, 853 Broadway (Domestic Building), New-York, will receive, free of charge, his new book of French conversations, Proverbs, Idiomatic Expressions.
